REVIEW GAME

The following pages, cut apart, form review cards which can be used several different ways.

1. Memory game (Concentration)

Cut apart and glue onto colored construction paper – or – copy onto colored cardstock. Memory game can be played at times throughout the quarter by using pictures and text from lessons which have been covered. In order to make enough for a full game, use memory verse cards.

2. Flash cards

These can be used at intervals throughout the quarter to increase students' retention of past lessons and memory verses.

3. Visual aids

Use the picture to illustrate when you tell or read the story for that week.

4. Bulletin Board

Back with colorful construction paper and add to your bulletin board as you cover each lesson.

5. "Earlybird" activity

If there are students who typically come early for Sunday School, offer them the opportunity to "help" by coloring the pictures. Colored pictures can be used in above game, on bulletin board, or in mobile.

6. Mobile

Make a mobile for your classroom or for students to take home, using pictures and text or memory verse from various lessons.
